

Yunice YoungKyoung Kim

Executive Director, ESG-Impact Investing Strategy

Yunice Kim is an executive director at D3 Jubilee Partners, a leader in the impact investment industry as well as a bridge between finance and social justice. In this role, Yunice is focused on using a new approach to capital in investing into startups to drive meaningful environmental and social change.

She has worked at Morgan Stanley, Lehman Brothers, Standard Chartered, and Deutsch Securities as an equity investment analyst covering property, commerce, and food and beverage sectors. Following her career in the finance industry, she joined ecommerce companies, where she was in charge of business development and strategy.

Having worked as an equity investment analyst, Yunice has continuously sought out ways to drive social change and came across impact investment while studying technology management at Yonsei University. She discovered that by combining technology and management principles, impact investment can work as a creative and powerful foundation to drive positive societal transformation.

Yunice obtained her Bachelor of Art in German Language and Literature and Master of Business both from Yonsei University. She is currently a Ph.D. candidate in Management of Technology at Yonsei University. In addition, Yunice serves as a committee member of Fund Management Deliberative Council of Seoul Business Agency (a business support institution for SMEs in Seoul, run by Seoul metropolitan government) in Korea. She co-authored <Voice First Paradigm: Pre-occupy Super Platform (AI voice assistant)> and co-translated <If We Can Change the World (Impact Investment)>.
